FIDELITY NATIONAL TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Defendant.

Case No. 2:20-cv-00419-KJD-VCF

AMENDED ORDER

Presently before the Court is Defendant's Motion to Dismiss (#14). Plaintiff responded in opposition (#15) to which Defendants replied (#16).

I. Summary

This action arises out of the foreclosure of a homeowner's association ("HOA") lien on a residential property in Las Vegas, Nevada. Plaintiff ("HSBC") brings this action against the Defendant ("Fidelity") for failure to provide coverage for a claim under the insurance contract. Specifically, HSBC brings claims for declaratory relief, breach of contract, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, deceptive trade practices, and unfair claims practices. The Court finds that one of the endorsements contained in the Policy covers the loss, but the other two endorsements do not provide coverage. Therefore, the Court will grant in part, and deny in part, the Defendant's motion.

II. Factual and Procedural Background

A. The Property, HOA, and CC&Rs

The Court takes the allegations of the complaint as true, as it must, on a motion to dismiss.¹ Non-party borrower, Tracy Hurst borrowed $232,500.00 (the “Loan”) from New Century Mortgage Corporation in July 2005 to purchase a home. The home (the “Property”) is located at 2637 Seahorse Drive, Las Vegas, NV 89128 and is part of the Desert Shores Community Association (“HOA”). The Property is subject to the HOA’s conditions, covenants, and restrictions (CC&Rs) which were recorded June 1, 1988. The CC&Rs obligates each unit owner to pay annual assessments, special assessment, and maintenance charges and they also create a lien on the unit if those obligations go unmet. The HOA may foreclose on the lien in accordance with Nevada law.

A. Deed of Trust and the Policy

The $232,500.00 loan from New Century Mortgage Corporation was secured by a deed of trust and recorded against the Borrower’s Property on July 13, 2006. This deed of trust was subsequently assigned to HSBC.

As part of the loan, Fidelity and New Century Mortgage Corporation signed a lender’s title insurance policy (the “Policy”), numbered A92-210029575. Where there is coverage, the Policy requires Fidelity to indemnify HSBC as a successor assignee of New Century, and to provide defense to any adverse claims of title. The Policy includes three parts: (1) Schedule A, which describes the title insured; (2) Schedule B, which describes the exceptions and exclusions to insurance; and (3) four endorsements, which provide coverage not otherwise available under the body of the Policy.

C. Endorsements

The Policy also is alleged to contain several endorsements. The endorsements relevant to this action are: (1) CLTA 115.2/ALTA 5; and (2) CLTA 100. The CLTA 115.2/ALTA 5 typically provides coverage against loss or damage sustained by reason of: [t]he priority of any lien for

¹ The Court also takes judicial notice of the documents attached to the first amended complaint but is displeased that Plaintiff could attach eight different explanations of endorsements, but not the actual policy and endorsements at issue in this case.

1 charges and assessments at Date of Policy in favor of any association of homeowners which are
2 provided for in any document referred to in Schedule B over the lien of any insured mortgage
3 identified in Schedule A.

4 CLTA 100 provides coverage for two particular types of loss relevant to this matter. The 5 form for CLTA 100(1)(a) shows that it typically covers a loss sustained “by reason of . . . [t]he 6 existence of . . . [c]ovenants, conditions or restrictions under which the lien of the mortgage
7 referred to in Schedule A can be cut off, subordinated, or otherwise impaired[.]” CLTA
8 100(2)(a) covers a loss sustained by reason of any future violations on the land of any covenants, 9 conditions, or restrictions occurring prior to acquisition of title to the estate or interest referred to 10 in Schedule A by the insured, provided such violations result in impairment or loss of the lien of 11 the mortgage referred to in Schedule A.

12 D. Trade Usage and Understanding

13 HSBC also submitted the following guides (as exhibits to the FAC) to illustrate how the 14 endorsements at issue in this case are understood by policy underwriters: (1) Fidelity’s
15 Endorsement Guide; (2) Chicago Title’s 2013 Endorsement Manual; (3) Fidelity’s Endorsement
16 Manual; (4) James L. Gosdin’s writing “The 2006 ALTA Forms”; (5) Stewart Title’s 1991
17 Bulletin; (6) Stewart Title’s 1993 Bulletin; (7) Land America’s Underwriting Manual; and (8)
18 Stewart Title’s Bulletin NV2014002. These exhibits are mostly guidelines for underwriters to 19 understand the scope and effect of the endorsements. James L. Gosdin, the author of “The 2006
20 ALTA Forms” is the former ALTA chair, and he explains the scope and intent of the ALTA 21 endorsements.

22 Fidelity’s Endorsement Guide states the CLTA 100 “[p]rovides comprehensive coverage for 23 insured ALTA lender against loss by reason of present or future CC&Rs violations[.]” It clarifies
24 that “[t]here are no CC&Rs under which the lien of the insured mortgage can be cut off, 25 subordinated or impaired.” The Underwriting Manual from Land America tells underwriters to 26 “review all covenants, conditions and restrictions . . . to determine if there is language which 27 result in forfeiture, reversion or other impairment.” It also explains that “other impairment” 28 “includes a provision permitting a homeowners or civic association to levy an assessment,

1 secured by a lien with priority over the insured deed of trust.”

2 Chicago Title’s Endorsement Manual explains that ALTA 5-06 “insures against loss from 3 lack of priority of the mortgage lien over the lien for homeowners’ association assessments. This 4 endorsement “differs” from the ALTA 5.1-06 which does not cover “prior over future
5 assessments” and instead “only covers unpaid assessments at date of policy.”

6 Fidelity’s Endorsement Manual is similar. It says “[t]he ALTA 5-06 insures against loss from 7 lack of priority of the mortgage lien over the lien for homeowners’ association assessments. “The 8 ALTA 5.1-06 differs in that there is no insurance of priority over future assessments... instead it
9 only covers unpaid assessments at date of policy.” Id. Further, it explains that the ALTA 5-06 10 “coverage may be given only if state law or the covenants and restrictions, which provide the 11 lien for assessments, also provide that the lien of the mortgage you are insuring is prior to the 12 assessment lien.”

13 E. NRS Chapter 116

14 The Uniform Law Commission promulgated the Uniform Common Interest Ownership Act
15 (“UCIOA”) in 1982. This included a provision that afforded HOAs’ CC&Rs a “super-priority”
16 lien for unpaid assessments that permitted an HOA’s assessment lien to take priority over a first 17 deed of trust. In 1992, the Nevada legislature adopted the 1982 version of UCIOA, codifying it 18 in NRS Chapter 116. NRS 116.3116 is the statute that governs liens against units for 19 assessments.

20 NRS § 116.3116(1) established that an HOA has a lien on any unit for any assessment levied
21 against that unit from the time the assessment becomes due. The HOA lien is “prior to all other 22 liens and encumbrances on a unit” except for certain carveouts, including “[a] first security
23 interest on the unit recorded before the date on which the assessment sought to be enforced
24 became delinquent.” § 116.3116(2)(b). However, the HOA lien is prior even to first deed of trust 25 to the extent of the assessments for common expenses based on the periodic budget adopted by 26 the association. Id.²

27
28 ² NRS § 116.3116 has since been amended, and the provision permitting an HOA lien to subjugate a first deed of trust for unpaid assessments has been removed.

1 In September 2014, the Nevada Supreme Court ruled that NRS § 116.3116 gives an HOA “a
2 super-priority lien on an individual homeowner’s property for up to nine months of unpaid HOA
3 dues.” SFR Invs. Pool 1 v. U.S. Bank, 334 P.3d 408, 409 (Nev. 2014). This case resolved the 4 split between federal and state courts as to whether NRS § 116.3116 established a “true priority
5 lien”— that is, a lien which when foreclosed upon would extinguish all subpriority liens,
6 including a first deed of trust— by finding that “the super-priority piece of the HOA lien carries 7 true priority over a first deed of trust.” Id. at 412-13.

8 F. HOA Lien and Foreclosure

9 Borrowers stopped paying assessments to the HOA in 2010 and on August 10, 2010, a 10 Notice of Delinquent Assessment (“Delinquency Notice”) was recorded against the Property by 11 Nevada Association Services (“NAS”). The Delinquency Notice stated that “[i]n accordance 12 with Nevada Revised Statutes and [the CC&Rs],” the HOA “has a lien on the [Property].” On 13 October 19, 2012, NAS recorded a Notice of Default and Election to Sell Under Homeowners
14 Association Lien against the Property. The Notice stated that it was being given pursuant to the 15 Delinquency Notice and declared a breach under the CC&Rs. On November 14, 2014, NAS
16 recorded a Notice of Foreclosure Sale against the property, and it referenced the Delinquency
17 Notice, which cited both the NRS and the HOA’s CC&Rs. A non-judicial foreclosure sale
18 occurred on December 12, 2014, where Saticoy Bay LLC Series 2637 Seahorse (“Saticoy Bay”)
19 purchased the Property from the HOA for $81,100.00

20 On April 28, 2015, HSBC filed a complaint for quiet title and declaratory relief against the 21 HOA, NAS, and Saticoy Bay, among others, in the Eighth Judicial District Court in Clark
22 County, Nevada. After discovery, the court quieted title in favor of Saticoy Bay and HSBC
23 appealed to the Nevada Supreme Court. The Nevada Supreme Court affirmed the lower court’s 24 decision in favor of Saticoy Bay. HSBC has also incurred significant attorneys’ fees and costs in 25 defending its interest in the Property.

26 G. HSBC’s Claim to Fidelity

27 On February 16, 2016, HSBC provided written notice to Fidelity that Saticoy Bay was 28 claiming an interest in the Property superior to its Deed of Trust. The claim requested both

1 indemnity and defense from Fidelity and cited the Nevada Supreme Court's decision in SFR
 2 Investments, which held that an HOA lien could possibly extinguish a lender's Deed of Trust.
 3 On February 29, 2016, Fidelity denied the request for coverage. Fidelity pointed to the Policy,
 4 CLTA 100, and CLTA 115.2, and the exclusions from the Policy, asserting that the HOA lien
 5 was not recorded until after the Date of Policy was July 13, 2006, precluding coverage under the 6 terms of the contract. Fidelity also said the claim was barred due to late notice of the claim.

7 H. Procedural History

8 HSBC Plaintiff initiated this action on February 28, 2020 against Fidelity, claiming Fidelity
 9 breached its duty to defend and indemnify HSBC according to the terms of the Policy.
 10 Specifically, HSBC brought claims for declaratory relief, breach of contract, breach of the 11 implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, deceptive trade practices, and unfair claims
 12 practices. Fidelity brings this present motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim and argues that 13 the insurance claim is barred because the HOA assessment lien arose after the Date of Policy.
 14 HSBC opposes this motion and argues it is entitled to coverage because the HOA lien arose upon 15 the recording of the CC&Rs and because the endorsements extend coverage to liens arising after 16 the date of the policy.

17 III. Standard for a Motion to Dismiss

18 Under Rule 8, a pleading must contain "a short and plain statement of the claim showing 19 that the pleader is entitled to relief." FED. R. CIV. P. 8(a)(2). A complaint does not require 20 "detailed factual allegations," but "requires more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic
 21 recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do." Bell Atlantic Co. v. Twombly, 550
 22 U.S. 544, 555 (2007). "To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient
 23 factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft 24 v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 557). All "[f]actual 25 allegations must be enough to raise a right to relief above the speculative level." Twombly, 550
 26 U.S. at 555. While the court "must take all of the factual allegations in the complaint as true, we 27 'are not bound to accept as true a legal conclusion couched as a factual allegation.'" Iqbal, 556
 28 U.S. at 678 (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555). "When the claims in a complaint have not crossed the line from conceivable to plausible, the complaint must be dismissed.” Hendon v. Geico Ins. Agency, 377 F.Supp.3d 1194, 1196 (D. Nev. 2019).

“Generally, a district court may not consider any material beyond the pleadings in ruling on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion . . . However, material which is properly submitted as part of the complaint may be considered on a motion to dismiss.” Hal Roach Studios, Inc. v. Richard Feiner & Co., 896 F.2d 1542, 1555 n.19 (9th Cir. 1990). Documents whose contents are alleged in a complaint and whose authenticity no party questions, but which are not physically attached to the pleading, may be considered in ruling on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss without converting the motion to dismiss into a motion for summary judgment. Patel, 367 F.Supp.3d at 1191.

IV. Analysis

Defendant moves to dismiss the FAC in its entirety for failing to state a claim. The Court first considers whether the three endorsement provisions Plaintiff identifies provide coverage for its loss. Although the Court agrees with Defendant that CLTA 100(2)(a) and ALTA 5(2) do not provide coverage, the Court concludes that CLTA 100(1)(a) covers the loss, and Plaintiff’s claims may proceed based on that endorsement. Next, the Court finds that Plaintiff has plausibly pleaded its claims for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing and violation of Nevada’s Deceptive Trade Practices Act but finds that Plaintiff’s claim for violation of NRS § 686A.310 is time-barred. Accordingly, the Court will grant in part, and deny in part, Defendant’s motion.

A. Coverage

Fidelity argues that HSBC’s claims for declaratory judgment and breach of contract must be dismissed because none of the endorsements cover the loss. Fidelity asserts that CLTA 100(1)(a) only insures against losses sustained by reason of a covenant, condition, or restriction, and HSBC’s loss was sustained by reason of NRS 106.3116. HSBC responded arguing that the CC&Rs and NRS 106.3116 were concurrent causes covered under CLTA 100(1)(a). Fidelity also argues that CLTA 100(2)(a) does not provide coverage because it has nothing to do with assessment liens and the violation did not occur “on the land.” HSBC argues this does provide coverage because the HOA lien and CC&R’s assessment obligations are “on the land.” Finally,

1 Fidelity argues that CLTA 115.2 does not extend coverage because the failure to pay assessment
 2 fees occurred after the date of the policy. HSBC argues this endorsement does provide coverage
 3 which is evidenced by industry custom and trade usage.

4 “Insurance policies, are, of course, contracts, and they are treated like other contracts.”
 5 Nautilus Ins. Co. v. Access Med., LLC, 482 P.3d 683, 687 (Nev. 2021) (citation omitted). Under 6 Nevada law, courts are tasked with interpreting insurance policies “broadly,” resolving doubts
 7 regarding coverage in favor of the policyholder. United Nat’l Ins. Co v. Frontier Ins. Co., 99
 8 P.3d 1153, 1156-58 (Nev. 2011). Indeed, “[a]ny ambiguity in an insurance contract must be 9 interpreted against the drafting party and in favor of the insured.” Farmers Ins. Grp. v. Stonik, 10 687 P.2d 389, 391 (Nev. 1994).

11 Because “[w]ords derive meaning from usage and context,” the Nevada Supreme Court has 12 concluded that “[a]mbiguity is not required before evidence of trade usage... can be used to 13 ascertain or illuminate’ contract terms.” Galardi v. Naples Polaris, LLC, 301 P.3d 364, 367 (Nev.
 14 2013) (citation omitted). And although “interpretation of an insurance contract is a question of 15 law for the court,” Big-D Const. Corp. v. Take it for Granite Too, 917 F. Supp. 2d 1096, 1106
 16 (D. Nev. 2013) (citing Powell v. Liberty Mutual Fire Ins. Co., 252 P.3d 668, 672 (Nev. 2011)),
 17 “[t]he existence and scope of a usage of trade are to be determined as questions of fact.” Galardi, 18 301 P.3d at 367 (quoting Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 222(2) (1981)).

19 1. CLTA Endorsements

20 The CLTA endorsement form 100 states in relevant part:

21 The Company hereby insures the owner of the indebtedness secured 22 by the insured mortgage against loss which the insured shall sustain by reason of:

23 1. The existence of any of the following:

24 (a) Covenants, conditions or restrictions under which the lien of the 25 mortgage referred to in Schedule A can be cut off, subordinated, or otherwise impaired:

26 (b) Present violations on the land of any enforceable covenants,
 27 conditions or restrictions...

28 2. (a) Any future violations on the land of any covenants, conditions or restrictions occurring prior to an acquisition of title to the estate or interest referred to in Schedule A by the insured,

1 provided such violations result in impairment or loss of the lien
2 of the mortgage referred to in Schedule A, or result in 3 impairment or loss of the title to the estate or interest referred to in Schedule A if the insured shall acquire such title in satisfaction of the indebtedness secured the insured mortgage[.]

4 The CLTA endorsement form 115.2 states in relevant part:

5 The Company insures the insured against loss or damage sustained
6 by reason of:

- 7 2. The priority of a lien for charges and assessments at Date of Policy in favor of any association of homeowners which are 8 provided for in any document referred to in Schedule B over the lien of any insured mortgage identified in Schedule A.

9 The Court will analyze each endorsement in turn.

10 a. CLTA 100(1)(a)

11 Defendant argues CLTA 100(1)(a) does not cover Plaintiff's loss because only the 12 statute created the super-priority status of the foreclosed lien; therefore, its deed of trust was not 13 cut off by reason of the CC&Rs. Plaintiff disagrees, contending that the "existence" of the 14 CC&Rs was operative in creating the lien that the HOA later foreclosed upon. Because the 15 CC&Rs authorized the creation of the lien that NRS § 116.3116 permitted to take super-priority
16 status over and eventually extinguish the deed of trust, the Court agrees with Plaintiff.

17 The CC&Rs clearly state that an "Assessment Lien may be enforced by 18 foreclosure of the lien on the defaulting owner's lot by the Association in like manner as a 19 mortgage on real property." Without the CC&Rs, the HOA could not have levied the 20 assessments that later formed the lien. Absent the statute, the super-priority portion of the HOA
21 lien authorized by the CC&Rs would not have taken priority over the prior recorded first deed of 22 trust. The CC&Rs and the statute therefore operated together to create the conditions which 23 caused HSBC's loss.

24 Additionally, when the HOA levied the lien against the Property for failure to pay
25 assessments, the HOA explicitly stated it was authorized to do so under both the CC&Rs and the 26 Nevada Revised Statutes. Further, the plain language of the statute at that time permitted an 27 HOA lien to assume priority over "all other liens and encumbrances on a unit," including first 28 deeds of trust for unpaid assessments. NRS § 116.3116(2). Regardless of whether anyone

1 reasonably expected that NRS § 116.3116(2) would permit the first deed of trust to be
 2 extinguished, as the Nevada Supreme Court found in 2014, the risk of subordination to the HOA
 3 lien is clear from the plain language of the statute. And upon reviewing the CC&Rs, which 4 expressly permit the HOA to levy assessments, impose a lien for unpaid assessments, and 5 foreclose on the lien to satisfy the balance, a title insurer would know or have reason to know
 6 that the CC&Rs' lien provisions could jeopardize the priority or full value of a first deed of trust.

7 The trade usage evidence also supports the idea that coverage exists here. Fidelity
 8 National Title's Endorsement Guide states the CLTA 100 "[p]rovides comprehensive coverage 9 for insured ALTA lender against loss by reason of present or future CC&Rs violations[.]" The 10 endorsement ensures "[t]here are no CC&Rs under which the lien of the insured mortgage can be 11 cut off, subordinated or impaired." This further suggests the CLTA 100(1)(a) endorsement
 12 covers Plaintiff's loss.

13 Construing coverage under the Policy broadly and resolving doubts in favor of the 14 policyholder is also required by Nevada law, which also supports the Court's finding for HSBC.
 15 See United Nat'l Ins. Co., 99 P.3d at 1156-58. Without the CC&Rs, no assessments would have 16 been levied. HSBC has adequately stated a claim for relief. The delinquent assessments provided
 17 grounds for establishing the HOA lien, the foreclosure of which would necessarily subordinate
 18 the first deed of trust, per NRS § 116.3116(2). Defendant therefore has not shown that CLTA
 19 100(1)(a) does not provide coverage for Plaintiff's loss as a matter of law. Indeed, the Court
 20 rules to the contrary—CLTA 100(1)(a) could cover the Plaintiff's loss. See Wells Fargo Bank, 21 N.A. v. Fidelity Nat'l Title Ins. Co., No. 3:19-cv-00241-MMD-CSD, Doc. No. 52 (D. Nev.
 22 September 20, 2022) (same finding). Plaintiff has stated a claim that is plausible on its face and 23 therefore, Defendant's motion to dismiss the claims based on CLTA 100(1)(a) is denied.

24 b. CLTA 100(2)(a)

25 Fidelity also argues that CLTA 100(2)(a) does not provide coverage and that this 26 claim should be dismissed because an HOA lien is not a violation "on the land." The Court
 27 agrees. The Court is convinced by Fidelity's argument that "[n]onpayment of a debt... unlike a 28 physical change to the property itself, does not occur in any particular place or location (e.g., "on

1 the land” versus “not on the land”).” Wells Fargo, Doc. No. 52 at 18. Accordingly, CLTA
2 100(2)(a) does not cover HSBC’s loss and this claim is dismissed.

3 c. CLTA 115.2

4 HSBC also alleges that CLTA 115.2 extends coverage for their loss. Fidelity
5 argues it cannot because the relevant part of the endorsement states that the Company insures the 6 insured against loss or damage sustained by reason of the priority of any lien for charges and 7 assessments at Date of Policy in favor of any association of homeowners which are provided for 8 in any document referred to in Schedule B over the lien of any insured mortgage identified in 9 Schedule A. HSBC relies on industry custom and trade usage to argue that CLTA 115.2 is the 10 same as ALTA 5/5-06 and this covers the loss.

11 The Court finds that this endorsement covers any charges or assessments only 12 when they are due and owing at the Date of Policy. CLTA 115.2 would provide coverage if a 13 borrower started missing payments for HOA dues three months before the Date of Policy, and if 14 the borrower continued to miss payments -- then those payments became a super-priority lien six 15 months after the Date of Policy. However, this is not what happened here. No HOA assessment 16 lien existed at the Date of Policy in 2005. Borrowers did not stop paying their HOA fees until 17 2010.

18 The Court finds there is no ambiguity here and thus there is no need to consider 19 the trade usage evidence. The endorsement is clear– it does not cover anything that arises after 20 the Date of Policy. Therefore, CLTA 115.2 does not provide coverage and this claim is 21 dismissed.

22 B. Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

23 Defendant moves to dismiss this claim because, it argues, there is no coverage for Plaintiff’s
24 loss under any of the cited endorsements. Plaintiff counters that Defendant’s motion should be 25 denied as to this claim because there is coverage under the cited endorsements. The Court agrees
26 with Plaintiff. Because the Court finds that there is coverage under Policy endorsement CLTA 27 100(1)(a) for the loss, the motion to dismiss this claim is denied.

C. Deceptive Trade Practices under NRS § 41.600 and § 598.0915

Fidelity argues HSBC has failed to state a claim for relief because HSBC does not have proper standing and because the claim is barred by the statute of limitations. HSBC responds, arguing that Fidelity relies on inapplicable case law and that the claim is not time-barred because it was not aware of the alleged continuing misrepresentations until it discovered the internal guides and manuals through discovery.

The Court agrees with HSBC. As HSBC points out, “[t]he Policy itself acknowledges it is for the benefit of original Deed of Trust holder and ‘its successors and/or assigns.’” The deed of trust also states that it “can be sold one or more times without prior notice.” Because HSBC has asserted facts that confer standing, the Court denies the motion to dismiss this claim based on standing.

Fidelity also asserts that this claim is time-barred by the statute of limitations which is four years and that any misrepresentations would have needed to be made prior to the Date of Policy. However, the statute states that a claim “accrue[s] when the aggrieved party discovers, or by exercise of due diligence should have discovered, the facts constituting the deceptive trade practice.” NRS § 11.90(2)(b). HSBC has alleged it was not aware of the alleged misrepresentations until it discovered the internal guides explaining the endorsements should provide coverage. At the minimum, HSBC should have discovered the facts constituting the deceptive trade practice on the date Fidelity denied the claims on February 29, 2016. HSBC’s complaint was filed on February 28, 2020. Therefore, the complaint was filed timely and the motion to dismiss the Deceptive Trade Practices Act claim is denied.

D. Unfair Claims Practices under NRS § 686A.310

Fidelity argues that a claim arising under § 686A.310 is time-barred. “A claim based on violation of Nev. Rev. Stat. § 686A.310 must be filed within three years of the triggering event.” Williams v. Travelers Home & Marine Ins. Co., 740 F. App’x 134 (9th Cir. 2018) (citing NRS § 11.190(3)(a)). The limitations period begins to run when the insurer formally denies the claim. See id. It is undisputed that Defendant formally denied Plaintiff’s claim on February 29, 2016. Plaintiff waited more than three years to file its unfair claim practices claim on February 28, 2020. Therefore, Defendant's motion to dismiss the unfair claims practices claims is granted. See Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. v. Fidelity Nat'l Title Ins. Co., No. 3:19-cv-00241-MMD-CSD, Doc. No. 52 (D. Nev. September 20, 2022) (finding claim time barred because it was filed more than three years after formal denial of claim).

E. Leave to Amend

Fidelity also asks the Court to dismiss HSBC's First Amended Complaint without leave to amend. Fidelity asserts that "[b]ecause the Policy unambiguously does not provide coverage for a post-Date of Policy claim, no amount of additional pleading can operate to change the ultimate determination of a motion to dismiss." HSBC argues in response that "[l]eave to amend should be granted unless it is clear that the deficiencies of the complaint cannot be cured by amendment."

The Court dismisses HSBC's claims to the extent they are based on CLTA 100(2)(a) and CLTA 115.2 because they do not cover the loss. Thus, the Court declines to grant HSBC leave to amend its claims to the extent they are based on CLTA 100(2)(a) and CLTA 115.2 because HSBC has already amended this action once, and the Court has considered the trade usage and industry standard and has still determined they do not cover the loss. Accordingly, leave to amend is denied.

IV. Conclusion

Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Defendant's Motion to Dismiss (#14) is GRANTED in part and DENIED in part;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the claims based on endorsement CLTA 100(2)(a) and CLTA 115.2, and NRS § 686A.310 are DISMISSED.
